My family has been farming in the Coorow area for 112 years and has generationally contributed to the community for most of that time. To be involved in any small community requires a level of commitment and time sacrifice and for the past 25 years I have been active in sporting and community groups within the local area. Having served on the Coorow shire council for the past 3 years I've gained a solid understanding of the workings of council.

If elected to serve another term I look forward to implementing new initiatives while representing rate payers from both the rural and coastal communities.
